... look for the badge

The British Association of Removers (BAR) has promoted professional excellence in the removals industry for more than a century. We are the only Trade Association in the removals sector that helps our Members to protect their customers by:

- Setting high professional standards for the industry by our Membership Criteria, and the BAR CTSI Code of Practice;
- Raising standards in the industry, by giving clear professional advice;
- Providing an Advanced Payment Guarantee scheme, and a free, independent alternative dispute resolution (ADR) service in the unlikely event that something goes wrong;
- Lobbying government at local, National and European level to ensure that the industry and the public get a fair deal.

Members who display the BAR CTSI Approved Code logo are offering you peace of mind and reliable customer service. This starts from the very first contact you have with the Member, and continues through to completion of the move.

Hints & Tips for Moving

- Plan your move well in advance. If possible contact your chosen BAR Member up to a month prior to the move, even if you don't know the exact date. They will explain what services they offer and help you begin planning for the move.
- BAR Members provide free, no obligation, clear and fair quotes. As professional removers they can explain to you exactly what they offer and the areas you need to think about. This way you can plan your time and concentrate on the essentials.
- Ask the movers for packing costs. They are trained professionals that know how best to protect your belongings, using the right materials and they'll do it in a fraction of the time it will take you. They'll also be happy to discuss insurance arrangements with you.
- When planning your move be aware that some removal days are busier than others, such as Fridays and Bank Holidays. Also remember that if something goes wrong with a sale or purchase your solicitor may not be available on a Saturday.
- Always look for a mover that displays the BAR CTSI Approved Code badge.
